

John Coleman

John wants Nexus MAT to ensure that our children and young people as well as staff are safe, happy, healthy, confident and successful; contributing to a thriving, inclusive community that is welcoming to all. John has been a teacher, educational psychologist and advisor in all sectors of the education service and has significant senior management experience at local authority, regional and national levels. With over forty years' experience within the education service he has a depth of knowledge to draw upon to support Northridge School to be the best it can be.